F. S. PARKER TRIES SUICIDE.

Takes a Big Dose of Oxalic Acid and Turns On the Gas.

The Young Brooklynite's Attempt Somewhat of a Mystery.

Frederick S. Parker, who is only eighteen years old, and of good family, was found unconscious on the floor of the bathroom of his home, 613 President street, Brooklyn, at 2.30 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Valentine, of 25 Eighth avenue, was summoned, and he found that young Parker had swallowed a large dose of oxalic acid.

Surgeon Noyes, who came from the Fener Hospital, applied the stomach pump and the patient was put to bed.

He will recover. The police visited the house, but when they learned all the facts in the case decided not to put young Parker under arrest.

Parker's mother says that the boy's attempt at suicide was the result of mental aberration caused by over study. The boy is said to be a crack on the subject of sociology and evolution. He reads eagerly all the books on these subjects that he can obtain.

Recently he has shown signs of nervousness and despondency and has been under the care of Dr. Pratt.

Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning the boy's father heard groans on the same floor. He went to Frederick's room, but found it vacant.

Continuing his search he finally entered the bathroom. There lay the boy, gasping for breath. Alongside of him lay a mug containing a quantity of oxalic acid.

The boy was unable to speak. His father hastened around after Dr. Valentine, who administered an emetic to counteract the effects of the poison.

There was a strong smell of gas in the bathroom. It was discovered that young Parker had, before taking the poison, cut a rubber tube, which conveyed gas from another room to a stove which heated the bathroom.

If his groans had not awakened his father just at the time they did, the desperate attempt at suicide would have been successful.

The Parker family is one of considerable means, and is well known in Brooklyn society.

The boy's father is Elijah Strong Parker, Auditor of the United States Mutual Accident Association at 320 Broadway. His mother is a sister of James K. Packer, the founder and President of the Association.

The Parker residence is near Prospect Park and in the most fashionable quarter of Brooklyn.

THUGS ON SEVENTH AVENUE.

A Pair of Them Beat a Harlem Man Almost Insensible.

John M. Summerville, of 247 West One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, this morning, in Harlem court, identified Stephen Thatcher as one of the men who beat and kicked him at the corner of One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street and Seventh avenue about midnight.

Summerville said he was going towards home when he saw a woman crying in front of a saloon at that corner, and asked what was the trouble. She said her husband was inside, drunk, and would not go home.

While he was talking with the woman, Thatcher and another man assaulted Summerville, knocking him down and pounding him till he was almost insensible.

Thatcher was held in $1,000 for trial at General Sessions.

HIS EAR NEARLY BITTEN OFF.

Bartender Cauley Injured in a Fight with an Angry Milkman.

Milkman Charles Yugel, of 147 Forsyth street, had some very lively experiences this morning, which he will have plenty of time to repeat. He is locked up in Jersey City to await trial on a charge of mayhem.

Yugel drove over the Pavyon ferry at an early hour, in a very quarrelsome mood. He had a disagreement with the gatekeeper at the ferry, and then he went into James Byrne's saloon at Hendrickson and Second streets, where he suddenly assaulted the plate-glass mirror behind the bar.

Bartender Michael Cauley attempted to put Yugel out, when a fierce fight ensued. The bartender's ear was nearly bitten off, and his face and neck were terribly lacerated by the infuriated milkman's teeth.

It took the united efforts of three policemen to pull Yugel away from Cauley, and the milkman had to be severely clubbed before he could be subdued and taken to the station.

Yugel is a man of 200 pounds weight and height, and is in hospital in a serious condition. The milk wagon and horse were attached by hyrre to make good the damage in the saloon. Yugel's friends believe that he had been suddenly insane.

MORE LIBERIAN COLONISTS.

Those at Rev. Mr. Merritt's Mission Still Looking for Work.

It dropped out this morning that another party of thirty-four would-be Liberians had reached here Sunday from McHenry, Woodruff county, Ark., by the Ocean line steamship City of Augusta.

Twenty-three other emigrants from the same locality have been in this city since Oct. 18 awaiting the departure of the Liberia, the ship that is to convey them to the land of Promise.

The Indian Territory delegation of 180 is still at Rev. Mr. Merritt's Florence Mission at Fort Smith, Ark.

Their leader, Rev. Mr. Hill, said this morning that he would "cut right and left" today in order to reach the "sprit" of his people.

As they cannot get to Liberia immediately they will probably jump at a chance to get the land of promise, and so they decided.

Mr. Merritt says they can stay in his mission until they decide what to do.

The last delegation to arrive is quartered at a boarding-house in Thompson street.

Wore a Dress and Whiskers. Giuseppe Marillo, living in Mott street, was fined $10 in the Tombs Court today for having celebrated Washington's Birthday by parading through Park Row in a calico dress of furring colors. He pointed out to the court that his big whiskers were proof that he didn't tried to disguise himself as a woman, but the city treasury needed his mite.

On Feb. 10 there appeared in the columns of the Tribune the following death notice:

On the 30th Jan. at New York, A. H. Wining's right Forefinger, William Robertson Lidderdale, of the 11th ward, died at 8th St. slighting from carriage wheel in motion.

Pritchard and Marshall, the solicitors of Mr. Lidderdale, advertised for Miss Vining and further information, but have been unable to learn anything. Nor can they find where there ever was any yacht as that named.

Said one of the solicitors to an Associated Press reporter:

"There is a Miss Vining who is believed to be wealthy. It is supposed that she is from New York, but we do not believe that she was the lady who inserted the notice of Mr. Lidderdale's death in the Press."

The solicitor said this Miss Vining knew Mr. Lidderdale. He had no idea where she is at present.

The missing banker's accounts are all straight.

TWO DEAD, ONE DYING.

Party of Young People Run Down by a Fast St. Louis Express.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—The west bound St. Louis express on the Pennsylvania road ran down a pleasure party at Hawkins Station, near here, about 2 o'clock this morning, killing one instantly and fatally injuring two others. Their names were:

ALICE GASKILL, aged twenty years, of Swiss, Pa., killed instantly.

WILLIAM DEWAR, aged twenty-two years, of Wilkesburg, Pa.; died at the hospital a few hours after the accident.

MILTON ZIGLER, aged twenty-two years, of Wilkesburg, Pa.; still living, but will probably die.

The party were returning from a dance at Bradford and having taken the last train were walking home. They had reached Hawkins station when the express came around a sharp curve.

The sudden appearance of the train bewildered the young people, and before they could step from the tracks the engine was on them and they were ground under its wheels.

The physicians have no hopes of Zigler's recovery.

Robbed His Sleeping Father. Joseph Moore, aged of 738 Tenth avenue, accused his son, Joseph, Jr., in the Yorkville Court today of having stolen $65 from under his pillow while he was asleep last night. The son pleaded guilty and was held.

Keller's superior height and long left leg made him an awkward party for Smith to handle, but Smith gave him several hard left jabs in the first three rounds and brought blood from his left eye.

Keller landed a good many times in the twentieth round nearly dropped Smith with a left on the jaw, followed by a right straight drive.

In the twenty-second Smith dropped Keller with a right on the cheek, and the continued hammering together with Keller's wild swings soon reduced Keller helpless. Smith knocked him down, and when he rose sent him down again. He was struggling to his feet when he was counted out.

In the twenty-fourth he staggered Keller with a right on the bleeding cheekbone, and the continued hammering together with Keller's wild swings soon reduced Keller helpless. Smith knocked him down, and when he rose sent him down again. He was struggling to his feet when he was counted out.
